Education: Together, We Are Able is Inclusion Matters by Shane's Inspiration's unique social inclusion education program that directly addresses the issue of social exclusion and bullying of children with disabilities in the school environment by bringing students of all abilities together through transformative social/emotional learning. The program is directly facilitated in the Los Angeles region and is implemented independent of the organization in other states and countries. This three-step program includes:

Step 1: A 60-minute classroom conversation that explores how we define and perceive disabilities. Students take away a new awareness of their perceptions along with real-world tools on how to engage with peers with differences.

Step 2: Participating students with and without disabilities are paired at an Inclusion Matters playground or on their school campus for interaction and play. This gives them the chance to learn from and with each other, overcoming apprehension and learning new skills through play. Locally, in Los Angeles, the organization supports the cost of transportation for the field trips for public schools, which can be a barrier to participation for them.

Step 3: A wrap-up 45-minute workshop allows students to synthesize their new awareness and create an inclusion plan for the rest of the school year.

In addition to the program, schools receive social inclusion support that includes: professional development for educators and staff, social inclusion planning throughout the year, webinars targeted towards topics of interest, and integrated recess planning and implementation to continue the social inclusion experience for all students throughout the year.

on the belief that play is the common ground of childhood. Since that time, it has been replicated in communities throughout the United States and worldwide and has reached tens of thousands of children with disabilities and their caregivers. During the COVID 19 pandemic, we rallied volunteers and service providers to create virtual My Playclub events, which brought children with disabilities and their Teens For Social Inclusion buddies together to play and connect through zoom. This helped families meet the need for social recreation, which had dropped off significantly due to physical isolation from their communities, and reached 1,776 children over 5 virtual events. Here is an example of My Virtual PlayClub in action: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Id75SPjxWj0.

Covid-19 Impact

Covid-19 Impact:

The impact COVID-19 has had on the children and families the organization serves has been immense. They lost many of the critical therapies and educational support structures they depended upon socially, emotionally, and physically. That's why Inclusion Matters by Shane's Inspiration created virtual programming to help kids, parents, and educators navigate powerfully through this pandemic. Collectively, those virtual events and programs reached over 20,000 lives from March 2020 to December 2022.

Management has continued to evaluate significant pandemic-driven events or transactions during the past fiscal year. Upon the World Health Organization declaring COVID-19 a global pandemic in 2020, Inclusion Matters by Shane's Inspiration immediately converted to remote operations in order to protect the health and safety of the staff and the community. Management has been closely monitoring and evaluating the situation daily and responding accordingly. As of June 2021, they returned to providing limited in-person programming, adhering to all Center for Disease Control COVID-19 protocols.

During the time of the organization's largest revenue-generating event in 2021, California maintained large gathering restrictions. This significantly impacted the organization's ability to generate revenue that is historically raised from three large, fundraising events. The organization secured SBA loans, both PPP and EIDL, in order to counter this loss, as well as the potential anticipated loss from additional cancelled events, grants, and individual giving. The organization continued to streamline its budget for FY 21/22 that allowed it to deliver its mission powerfully, despite fluctuating state gathering orders.

As mentioned in previous sections, the organization continued providing all programs virtually during the second year of the pandemic and has created, with its Governing and Professional Advisory Boards, a hybrid plan moving forward that combines in-person and virtual service delivery and fundraising events.
