Education: Together, We Are Able, now in its 21st year, is Inclusion Matters by Shane's Inspiration's unique social inclusion education program that directly addresses the issue of exclusion and bullying of children with disabilities in the school environment by bringing students of all abilities together through transformative social/emotional learning (SEL). The program is directly delivered to almost 3,000 students in the Los Angeles region each year and has been replicated in other states and countries. This three-step program includes:

Step 1: A 60-minute classroom conversation explores how students define and perceive disabilities. Through a combination of activities, students gain a new awareness of the common ground they share as well as real-world tools on how to engage with peers with cognitive/sensory/physical/communication differences.

Step 2: Participating students with and without disabilities are paired at an Inclusion Matters playground in Los Angeles or on their school campus for interaction and play. This gives them the chance to learn from and with each other, overcoming apprehension and learning new SEL skills through play. Locally, in Los Angeles, the organization supports the cost of bus transportation for the field trips for public schools that serve children with complex disabilities, which can be a significant barrier to participation for them.

Step 3: A wrap-up 45-minute workshop allows students to synthesize their new awareness and create an inclusion plan for the rest of the school year.

In addition to the program, schools receive social inclusion support that includes: professional development for educators/staff/parents, social inclusion planning throughout the year, webinars targeted towards topics of interest, and integrated recess planning and implementation to continue the social inclusion experience for all students throughout the year.

The program is delivered by the organization directly in the greater Los Angeles region and has reached 55,000+ children in over 250 schools. The program has been replicated as far away as Ecuador and throughout the United States.

In 2022/2023, Inclusion Matters created a university training program in partnership with the US Embassy & Consulate in Ecuador that reached over 1,900 university students, professors, and practicing teachers and 5,000 children throughout the country. The organization developed its powerful curriculum and training tools, which are in 67 countries, into an online course that teaches future and practicing teachers how to facilitate social inclusion on their campuses. The course, which fulfills key social-emotional learning goals, includes:

- Teacher's guides for the classroom workshops
- A detailed inclusive play guide for the field trips/campus play events
- A modular education DVD that shows a day-in-the life for students with disabilities
- Supplemental reading to continue the inclusion conversation

The 60-minute, modular video training, which is a companion to the curriculum, helps educators:

- Guide ability awareness conversations in schools
- Facilitate social interaction between general and special education students
- Deepen their understanding of neurodiverse students with Autism and gain insights on how to support them in social settings

In addition, during December 2023, the organization co-hosted the largest Inclusive Schools Week celebration in the Los Angeles Unified School District, which is the second largest district in the nation. There were 90 schools enrolled, ranging from pre-school to high school. The weeklong event featured inclusion celebrations on campuses that ranged from adaptive sports to robotics programs. The organization facilitated inclusion for over 600 students that week.

Currently, Inclusion Matters is developing an Early Childhood Inclusion Guide, which will be piloted in LAUSD primary centers this fall and will be brought statewide throughout California by the end of 2024. This guide will equip preschool through kindergarten teachers with the tools they need to ensure an inclusive, supported early learning environment.

Community Outreach: Each year, Inclusion Matters by Shane's Inspiration hosts bi-monthly My Play Club® events. My Play Club® is a free, inclusive social recreation program for children of ALL abilities and their families that is held at one of their 44 Inclusive Playgrounds throughout the greater Los Angeles region. Face painting, arts & crafts, and snacks are provided, along with inclusive play on the playgrounds. Sponsors such as Crowe, Universal Studios Hollywood, and Disney provide special activities or entertainment at the events. Community partners volunteer their valuable time and talents at each event, providing adaptive recreation and art-based activities, volunteers, peer buddies with typical abilities, and wellness information. This program was created in 2002 and is based on the belief that play is the common ground of childhood. Since that time, it has been replicated in communities throughout the United States and worldwide and has reached tens of thousands of children with disabilities and their caregivers.

During the COVID 19 pandemic, we rallied volunteers and service providers to create virtual My PlayClub events, which brought children with disabilities and their Teens for Social Inclusion buddies together to play and connect through zoom. This helped families meet the need for social recreation, which had dropped off significantly due to physical isolation from their communities, and reached 1,776 children over 5 virtual events. Here is an example of My Virtual PlayClub in action:
